REDUNDANCY SYSTEMS

Expected to operate behind enemy lines for extended periods, Hunter Clade operatives are often upgraded with redundancy augmetics such as backup lungs and emergency blood packs, ensuring that they remain capable of functioning even after suffering terrible damage.

Once per turning point, when a friendly HUNTER CLADE operative is activated, if it's not within control range of enemy operatives, you can use this rule. If you do, that friendly operative regains up to D3+2 lost wounds.
