RATLING

STRATEGY PLOY

CRACK SHOTS

It is said that a Ratling can put a bullet through an opponent's eye socket from more than a thousand yards away.

Whenever a friendly RATLING operative is shooting an enemy operative more than 6" from it, if that friendly operative hasn't performed the Charge, Fall Back or Reposition action during the activation, or if it's a counteraction, its rifle (if any) has the Balanced weapon rule. Note that operative isn't restricted from performing those actions after shooting.
