

BATTLECLADE

FIREFIGHT PLOY

REMOTE ACCESS

Projecting a canticle of hexamathic authority, the most worthy Tech-Priests can commune with intransigent machine spirits even without physical contact.

Use this firefight ploy during a friendly BATTLECLADE  TECH-PRIEST operative's activation. Once during that activation, you can use one of the following rules:

- That operative doesn't require a marker to be within its control range to perform a mission action that usually requires this (this takes precedence over that action's conditions). Instead, the marker must be within 4" of it and no enemy operatives can contest that marker. However, you can ignore enemy operatives within control range of other friendly BATTLECLADE  operatives when determining this.
- That operative doesn't require a hatchway's access point to be within its control range to perform an Operate Hatch action. Instead, that access point must be within 4" of it.